Language Focus

Adverbs of frequency

Adverbs are words that describe or give more information about verbs, adjectives and other adverbs. Adverbs of frequency tell how often (frequent) something happens.

Here is an example of an adverb of frequency from a story this week:

“...the tiny primate rarely left her side until he was taken by authorities...”

There are two types of frequency adverbs: definite and indefinite.

Definite adverbs tell the specific time or exactly how often something occurs.	Indefinite adverbs of frequency do not give a specific number or time. They are less clear.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>hourly, daily, weekly, monthly, yearly</li><li>every hour, once a day, twice a week, three times a month, four times a year...</li><li>once, twice, three times, four times...</li><li>all the time, every chance I get</li><li>once in a blue moon (seldom)</li></ul> Adverbs of definite frequency usually go at the end of a sentence. They may go at the beginning of a sentence for greater emphasis.	100% Always, constantly <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Usually, frequently</li><li>Normally, often</li></ul> 50% Sometimes, Occasionally <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Rarely, Seldom</li><li>Hardly ever</li></ul> 0% Never Adverbs of indefinite frequency usually go in the middle of a sentence, before the main verb. If the main verb is 'be' the adverb should follow it. Occasionally, sometimes, often, frequently and usually can also go at the beginning or end of a sentence: Rarely and seldom can also go at the end of a sentence

Answer the following questions using adverbs of frequency from above:

1. How often do you go grocery shopping?
2. How often do you listen to the radio?
3. How often do you visit your friends?
4. How often do you study English?
5. How many times a week do you watch the news?
6. How many times a year do you go to the movies?
7. How often do you cook dinner for your family?

Transcripts of Weekly news stories

	DECEMBER 14 TH WEEKLY NEWS STORIES	TIME
Introduction	Hi, this is Nirmala Naidoo. You're listening to Learning English with CBC for December 14 th .	0:00
Story 1	The death of the nurse, who was fooled by a hoax call from Australian DJs about the pregnant Duchess of Cambridge, is an apparent suicide. A coroner's inquest in London has been told that Jacintha Saldanha was found hanging by a scarf in her residence. The 46-year-old nurse left three notes. Saldanha answered the phone when two Australian disc jockeys called looking for information about the Duchess of Cambridge, who was being treated for severe morning sickness. The DJs pretended to be Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Charles, and Saldanha was tricked into transferring the call to another nurse, who gave out details about the duchess' condition. The DJs apologized for the prank. They have been suspended.	0:10
Story 2	Watching the World Junior Hockey Championships on TV has become a holiday tradition for many Canadians. The hockey tournament is held every year over the holiday season. Eight countries take part in the competition. The teams are made up of players 19 years of age and under. This year, Russia is hosting the championships. A selection camp to decide which teenage boys will represent Canada was held in Calgary in mid-December. After evaluations by the coaches, twenty-three players were named to Team Canada. The World Junior Hockey Championships start on December 26th. The gold medal game will be played on Saturday, January 5th. Sweden is the defending gold medal champion. Canada finished with a bronze medal the last time the tournament was played which was right here in Alberta.	01:11
Story 3	The owner of a monkey found outside a Toronto IKEA last weekend says the tiny primate rarely left her side until he was taken by authorities and she wants him back. Yasmin Nakhuda says Darwin was near her at all times, including while she slept and showered. The baby monkey captured worldwide attention after he somehow let himself out of a parked car and walked around the store's parking lot dressed in a coat. He was eventually caught by animal control officers and moved to a primate sanctuary near Toronto. Nakhuda, who was fined $240 for breaking the city's prohibited-animal bylaw, says she is thinking about taking legal steps to get back custody of the pet she thinks of as part of her family.	02:24
